Walter Snow Must Serve Two Year Jail Sentence

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction Of Former Interstate Mortgage Trust Head

Walter N. Snow of Greenfield, former head of the Interstate Mortgage Trust Company, must serve the two year sentence imposed upon him last year in the Franklin County Superior Court by Judge William A. Burns of Pittsfield when he was found guilty on two indictments involving larceny of funds from various persons in this vicinity.

The case has been pending before the Supreme Court of Massachusetts since last year. The full bench of that court on Wednesday overruled his exceptions to his conviction. Snow will appear before Judge Thomas J. Hammond of Northampton in Superior Court today to be resentenced.

The indictments upon which Snow was found guilty by Judge Burns charged in the first indictment of 23 counts, on 21 of which he was found guilty, the larceny of more than $30,000 in money and securities from various persons that was delivered to the Interstate Mortgage Trust Company of which he was president and in charge of the Eastern office, on the expressed trust to invest the same in first mortgages on improved farm or city property in Oklahoma or Kansas and that the same were wrongfully diverted by the company and the defendant for other purposes.

The other indictment charged in three counts, on all of which he was found guilty, that on May 3, 1930 he stole from Rollie L. Roberts, Belle W. Hall and Lilly E. and Winseck Seban the sums of $1,000 each, and that the defendant deposited the proceeds to the credit of the company so that they were wrongfully converted.

Ruling on the first indictment exceptions, the full bench of the supreme court said:

"The only question is whether a trust relationship or a relationship of debtor and creditor was proved between the company and the depositors. If the former, it is plain that the defendant is guilty as charged. It is the contention of the defendant that the fact that interest was to be paid on the certificates of deposit necessarily showed that the company had a right to use the money and securities to earn the interest that it had agreed to pay."

In the case at bar, the certificates of deposit bore the word 'for investment only.' These words are plain and free from ambiguity. They unequivocally import that the money and securities represented by the certificates were dedicated to and were to be used for but one purpose. In view of their plain and unequivocal meaning the presumption raised by the promise of payment of interest cannot be held to prevail. The question was one of fact to be determined by the trial judge. His finding has adequate support in the language of these certificates and in the testimony of the depositors. As the defendant's request for ruling could not properly have been given for the reason stated, the entry must be exceptions overruled."

Confirmation by the Senate is the final action.

Applicants will be required to assemble in an examination room for scholastic tests, and will also be rated on their education and business experience and fitness. The Civil Service Commission will make inquiry among representative business and professional men and women of the community concerning the experience, ability, and character of each applicant, and the evidence thus secured will be considered in determining the final action.

William Pigott Honored By Local Postal Workers

Given Picture Of Himself, "Baronetta" And Jack" At Greenfield Party

Mr. William Pigott, who for eleven years carried mail between the Central Vermont Railway depot and the Northfield Postoffice, was given a party in Greenfield on Monday evening by the local postal workers in appreciation of his faithful service.

Among those who attended the party were Postmaster Charles F. Slate, Assistant Postmaster Ruth L. Anderson and Rural Carriers H. A. Johnson and F. G. Huber. Mrs. Slate, who until last May was Assistant Postmaster, and Station Agent Theodore E. Darby, were also present. In appreciation of Mr. Pigott's work, a large picture of himself, his horse, "Baronetta," and dog, "Jack," taken on one of his last trips was presented by Mr. Johnson who composed the following verse:

"For ten years you have carried mail

To and from the Central Vermont Trains,

And to and from the Postoffice Both in sunshine and in rain.

"We enjoyed your friendly service

That you rendered every day,

With Jack announcing warning That the mail was on its way.

"When in winter you had your sleigh

And Prince wore his string of bells

You gave to children rides each day

To boys as well as 'gals.'

"We always liked your service, Bill,

And our thanks are most sincere

We hope you'll have the best of health

For many and many a year."

Mr. Darby presented Mr. Pigott with a box of cigars on behalf of Mr. Harry Gingras, Mr. George Pefferlee and himself. All were warmly associated with Mr. Pigott during his term of service. Mr. Pigott began carrying mail on January 1, 1923. On account of the consolidation of the mail messenger routes between Northfield Depot and Postoffice and between East Northfield Depot and Postoffice, his services terminated on October 20, this year.

Chimney Fires Keep Local Firemen Busy

The changes in the weather and the effort of the householders of the town to prepare for the winter would seem to be responsible for a number of chimney fires within the last few days. Two occurred over the week end which were sufficiently menacing to call for the services of the fire department. One was at the home of Mrs. Haley on Warwick avenue at 3 o'clock Saturday and one was at the home of Mrs. Cora Preston on Maple street at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. The department responded in both cases promptly and extinguished the fires. No damage was done. Fire Chief Galen Stearns suggests caution in starting the winter fires, the proper inspection of chimneys, and that premises be cleared of trash and other fire menaces.

Nine Towns and Cities Send Fire Apparatus

Henricon Block on Main Street Total Loss — Adjoining Block Damaged By Smoke and Water

Greenfield's worst fire in many years threatened to wipe out an entire block of buildings in the business section last night and was brought under control only after fire department from nine surrounding towns and cities had helped the local department battle the flames for more than five hours.

The Henricon block at 156 to 166 Main street, housing a dozen stores and offices, including the McLellan variety and Economy grocery stores, was entirely destroyed. The fire also broke through into the basement and second story of the adjoining Cohn block housing the F. W. Woolworth store before it was halted.

The loss is conservatively estimated at $200,000 and will probably greatly exceed that figure. Both buildings, owned by Henry Cohn of Greenfield, are believed to have been fully covered by insurance. No information was available as to the insurance carried on stocks of merchandise.

Except for outside walls, the Henricon block, together with all contents, appeared to be a total loss. Records of the Greenfield Credit exchange were said to have been taken from a second-floor office and saved. Records of the national re-employment service, also on the second floor were destroyed.

Starting in the basement of the McLellan store, occupying the first floor of the two-story Henricon block, the fire at first gave no indications of the proportions it was to assume. Patrolman Clifford W. Kirkwood, on whose beat the fire occurred, was told by an unidentified person about 5 p. m. that steam was escaping from a bulkhead at the rear of the Lond brick building and leading to the McLellan basement.

Investigation continued. Kirkwood that a fire was in progress and he sounded an alarm. Fire department trucks responded and firemen poured water into the basement at the front and rear of the building. Smoke billowed from all apertures, making it impossible for firemen to enter the basement.

When it seemed that the blaze might have been under control, it broke through into the first floor in Sammy the Cleaner's shop, conducted by Samuel Gianflone, at the side of the building.

So great an area was there in the basement that streams directed through the small basement windows and the bulkhead at the rear seemed unable to reach the farther side of the building.

Fire finally broke through into the first store at several points and, fed by stocks of light and inflammable merchandise in the McLellan store, roared upward into the second story containing the showroom of the Fashion Shop, a women's and children's store conducted by I. D. and Samuel Aaron, the Capital barber shop, Chamber of Commerce, Greenfield Credit Exchange, the Industrial Bankers of Greenfield and a number of other offices and apartments.

Calls had been sent to fire departments in neighboring towns and as the fire progressed and threatened to sweep the entire row of blocks eastward to Chapman street before a strong west wind, apparatus and men began to arrive from several nearby places. Long before the fire was under control trucks and men had responded from Turners Falls, South Deerfield, Shelburne Falls, Amherst, Millers Falls, Northampton, Holyoke and Brattleboro, Vt.

But for the arrival of these departments in response to calls sent out by Chief Herbert R. Ferris of the Greenfield department, the entire business section from the Henricon block east of the Main-street school yard to Chapman street and possibly beyond would unquestionably have been destroyed.

The origin of the fire was indeterminate. As it spread upward from the Economy and McLellan stores, vast clouds of black and acrid smoke were thrown off, possibly from stocks of celluloid merchandise. So thick was the smoke that firemen who played water into the building from three sides were often unable to see even the outline of the structure.

Occasionally the whole block burst into a red glare, but for the most part the scene was shrouded in billowing darkness.

Thousands of people, massed behind fire lines, watched the spectacle for hours. The sound of pumper fire apparatus was almost deafening. Main street for a block to the east was a tangled maze of hose. Torrents of water swept along the pavement. Over all hung the black pall of smoke, sweeping downward now and again in such density that the crowds along the sidewalks were engulfed in total darkness and swept backward as before a gas attack.

While the fire was at its height, the five-man crew sent from Holy-tions. The dark spot in the picture still is the farm situation.

Laundry Lessons

CARE OF WASHABLE GLOVES

GLOVES are kept in better condition if washed before they become badly soiled. The rubbing that is necessary to remove heavy streaks and spots is likely to remove some of the surface finish as well as to loosen the dye in kid and leather gloves, thus causing them to fade. Avoid harsh soaps.

To Wash Gloves Safely

1. Prepare tepid or cool suds, using mild, pure white soap, or flake. Never use home-made soap. A little borax will soften very hard water.
2. The gloves on the hands, should be placed in the suds and washed quickly by rubbing the soiled parts with a soft brush dipped in suds, or between hands. After wetting with suds, lay gloves flat and rub. Silk and woolen gloves may be soaked for a few minutes, but kid and leather gloves should be washed as quickly as possible.
3. Squeeze suds out, without wringing, and rinse several times in lukewarm water. Do not let gloves become too dry. Do not let them dry on a towel. To dry quickly, lay loosely with tissue or absorbent paper after blowing.

Mrs. A.—Does your husband regard you as a necessity or a luxury?

Mrs. B.—It depends, my dear, on whether I am cooking his dinner or asking him for a new gown.

"She said she'd marry me if I felt the same way a year from then."

"And did you?"

"Yes, but toward another girl."

Next door—Why are you lugger home that bouquet of flowers?

Naybor—Just playing safe. My wife kissed me this morning, so I think it must be our birthday or our wedding anniversary. — Montreal Star.

Adolescence

We hear a great deal today from parents about their adolescent boy or girl and the various difficulties they are having with them. Adolescence, after all, is a normal process of growing up and is not the cause for the many problems which parents and others believe it to be.

Too often we blame adolescence for poor behavior which, in reality, had its beginning long before the child entered adolescence. It perhaps started as temper tantrums when John was "only a baby." At six years his own way. At the age of fourteen or sixteen we find John insolent, rebellious, and unwilling to cooperate in the home or school. His troublesome behavior is excused by saying, "this is adolescence."

If a child is taught obedience and is properly trained during the preschool period, one need not worry about the appearance of undesirable behavior in adolescence.

F. E. B.—I am sixty-five years of age and have arthritis in both knees and back. Is dieting of any benefit? If so, could you send me a list of what I should or should not eat.

Ans.—Yes, diet is important in arthritis. A person suffering with this malady should be sure to take enough vitamins as contained in fresh fruit, green vegetables, orange juice, tomato juice etc. On the other hand, large quantities of carbohydrates are not tolerated well by most patients who have chronic arthritis. Potatoes, bread stuffs and other starchy foods should, therefore, be taken sparingly.

Ans.—We are sending you our diet list which will help you to select the foods best suited to the average patient with arthritis. We advise you, however, to see your doctor from time to time for individual advice.

S. C.—Is there any way for a layman to test whether or not there is mercury in a given product—a face powder, for instance?

Ans.—We know of no method whereby a layman could detect the presence of mercury in a given face powder. The American Medical Association, 535 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, some time ago published a pamphlet called "Cosmetic Nostrums and Allied Preparations." This gives the facts about many widely-advertised preparations.

J. R. G.—The claim is made that the system of waterless cooking in aluminum containers is a great boon to people in the development of their health. If this is true, will you please enlighten me as to the various reasons which make possible such a favorable accomplishment. With reference to the system of waterless cooking in aluminum containers, does the composition of aluminum compose any poisonous elements?

Ans.—The liquid in which vegetables are cooked contains some of their minerals and vitamins. Therefore, this liquid should be used. In waterless cooking in aluminum containers, there is not so much liquid and so it is more likely to be used. Steaming is another good method for cooking vegetables except for the strong juice vegetables such as onions and cabbage. Another method of preserving some of the minerals and vitamins in vegetables is the modern method of shortening the cooking period. The human organism contains a small amount of aluminum. Aluminum is also found in some foods. The extra small amount found in foods cooked in aluminum containers need occasion no misgivings.

Farm News Of Interest

More Funds Available
For Important Farm Work

Total funds allotted to the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture by the Civil Works Administration swelled to more than $700,000 when the state board approved projects for dairy barn sanitation, corn borer control and pine blister rust eradication, carrying an aggregate appropriation of more than $300,000. Earlier in the week the board had approved a $307,000 apple pest control program and $113,000 to continue the war against mosquitoes.

Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Commissioner of Agriculture announced that these projects would provide employment for 3100 men, practically all of whom will come from country towns. Half of the men will be newly unemployed not on welfare lists but who have dependents and are registered with the Federal Employment Agencies. The other half will come from local welfare lists.

This division of the work is in accordance with a new ruling from Washington which requires that fifty per cent of the men come from the ranks of those not classed as welfare cases and permits their immediate enrollment. Prior to this decision, such men could not be hired until after December 1. This ruling is welcome news to agricultural people because many of the most worthy cases in country towns are those who, while receiving public aid indirectly, had not been classed technically as welfare recipients.

Encouraged by this revised ruling of Federal authorities, Dr. Gilbert today spurred on his organization to an immediate completion of the rolls of workers on the huge state-wide projects being supervised by the State Department of Agriculture. Dairy farm work will have an opportunity under the barn sanitation project to have barns sprayed, whitewashed and otherwise given protection in preventing the spread of diseases in dairy herds. The program of apple pest control will include the cutting down of neglected apple trees, cedar and wild cherry trees and other orchard clean-up work aimed at the elimination of such important insects and diseases as apple maggot, codling moth, curculio, cedar rust, etc.

Blister rust work will be directed at the removal of infested pine trees on lands controlled by various state departments, municipal departments and semi-public organizations. The corn borer work will make possible a clean-up of pest breeding corn stalks. Because of the early freeze this year, many farmers and gardeners have been unable to follow their usual procedure of plowing under corn stubble which according to the state law must be done prior to December 1. Prompt removal of these corn stalks now will be of great help to landowners.

Work on these agricultural projects will be performed in each rural town of Massachusetts by a local crew under a town foreman.

Apples To Be Given
To Needy Families

Nearly 70,000 needy families in Massachusetts will have their Thanksgiving season gladdened by the unexpected arrival of some fresh-from-the-farms Massachusetts apples. This bit of cheer is made possible through the efforts of Governor Joseph B. Ely and the State Department of Agriculture in securing $25,000 Federal money with which to buy apples for welfare distribution.

Plans which have been developed by the Department of Agriculture at the request of Governor Ely will speed up the assembling and distribution of these apples so that it is hoped that most of them can be passed around by Thanksgiving. The distribution will be through the welfare departments of various cities. There are more than 70,000 families on the welfare lists at present in the state and it now seems probable that a very large proportion of them will receive apples.

Payment for the apples will come from the $300,000 Federal appropriation for the purpose of buying apples from fruit growers who were in need of financial assistance and distributing them to welfare families who would not otherwise have any such fruit. Through the efforts of Governor Ely and Commissioner of Agriculture A. W. Gilbert, $25,000 of this fund was secured for Massachusetts. It will not only provide Thanksgiving cheer for all these families but will assist a good many farmers and fruit growers who really need the money.

The Massachusetts apple crop this year is so large that a good many apples remain on the farms unsold. As this is the third year that apple prices have been low, the growers and fruit men are feeling the pinch badly. One of the stipulations under which the Federal funds were secured is that the farmers from whom the apples are bought shall be in real need of financial relief. Dr. Gilbert is having the assistance of leading fruit growers of the state in determining which farmers and fruit growers are in the greatest need.

Federal requirements are that the apples shall be of B grade, 2 1/4 inches in diameter, and may be delivered in lots of not less than 50 bushels nor more than 400 bushels from any one farm. They will be paid for at 40 cents a bushel and the containers are to be returned to the growers. The apples must be delivered at such welfare centers as are designated. All farmers and fruit growers in the state who can meet these requirements are invited to communicate with the Department of Agriculture, State House, Boston, and an application blank will be sent them.

The town foremen will be under the direction of county supervisors. The entire project will be directed by a state supervisor with headquarters in the office of the Department of Agriculture at the State House, Boston.

My Favorite Recipes

by Frances Lee Barton

AMONG my recipes are a number which I call my "Jiffy" recipes, for delicious things which can be made in the twinkling of an eye when unexpected things happen. Will you add these cakes to your list of "Jiffy" recipes?

Quick Spice Cake
(2 eggs)

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons combination baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 cup melted butter or other shortening; 1/2 cup molasses; 2 eggs, well beaten; 1/2 cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, spices, and sugar, and sift together three times. Break eggs into cup, and add cream to fill cup. Add to flour and beat until smooth. Stirring vigorously 1 minute. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Whipped Cream Cake
(2 eggs)

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons combination baking powder; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 cup heavy cream (about); 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, and salt, and sift together three times. Break eggs into cup, and add cream to fill cup. Add to flour and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Spread 1/3 cup cream, whipped, between layers. Sift powdered sugar over top.

Creole Tier Cake
(2 egg whites)

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoon combination baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 cup sugar; 4 tablespoons softened butter or other shortening; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten; 1/2 cup milk; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift together three times. Break eggs into cup, and add cream to fill cup. Add to flour and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Spread 1/3 cup cream, whipped, between layers. Sift powdered sugar over top.

Creole Butter Frosting

1 1/2 tablespoons butter; 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar; 1 tablespoon cocoa; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3 1/2 tablespoons strong coffee (about); 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter. Sift sugar, cocoa, and salt together. Break part of sugar mixture gradually to butter, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar mixture, alternately with coffee, until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of 2 or 3 cakes, or top and sides of 8 x 8 x 2-inch cake, or about 2 dozen cup cakes.

Greenfield Business Block
Swept By $200,000 Fire

oke entered the building through upper windows, and tore off section by section the steel ceiling over the second floor, and above which the flames otherwise would have smoldered for hours.

Occupants of apartments on the upper floors of the adjoining Cohn block were ordered out when it became apparent they would be in danger if they remained. A number of families moved out hastily, their members including two elderly women, a younger woman and a child, all of whom were carried or directed down from the upper part of the building by Police Sergeant Frank B. Woodard. Eventually the fire broke through into the basement and the second story of the Cohn block below and above the F. W. Woolworth store. Only quick work by firemen prevented this building from going up in flames.

Sparks set fire to buildings in Newton place, behind the town hall several hundred yards distant, but were quickly extinguished. Volunteers were placed on guard with buckets and other equipment to prevent another fire in that vicinity.

Electric light company employees cut wires leading from Main street poles to the Henricen block. The Franklin County hospital ambulance remained on the scene in case of emergency need and was called into duty when August H. Benson, a call fireman, was removed to his home suffering from smoke and exposure. Another call fireman, said to have been Edward Haigis, was cut in several places about the face, but remained after receiving first-aid treatment.

When people tell an editor they want him to print the truth they mean the truth about the other fellow.

OUR CHILD
AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Talking Health Is Bad

Everyone knows how tired we get over hearing some one thing all the time. It may be a popular song, a bit of slang, or just plain words spoken too often. At first we become so accustomed to it that it does not mean anything. Then, as we say, we get "sick of it." Well, that is one reaction of the child when he hears "health" day in and day out. Soon he gets used to it, and when he doesn't understand what it means, it is just so much wasted breath.

If the child thinks of health only as "getting well," how are we to influence him when he is well? Ask yourself "What does he want most when he is well?" There is the key; his interest. If it is summer, it may be swimming; in the winter, skating. Perhaps there is a ball team or a Scout troop. It may be to sing or to play the piano better; or, just possibly, to get better marks at school. Look for the things children want to do and you have the strongest possible appeal.

Next week Dr. Ireland will write about malnutrition.

A Symbol

THE Yule log—symbol of Christmas through the ages. On the great holiday the lord of the manor threw wide the doors, and misery and squalor were forgotten in the cheer of the hearth's head and wassail.

Customs change, but the Christmas spirit is ageless. Today millions express it by the purchase of Christmas Seals—the penny stickers that fight tuberculosis—still the greatest public health problem. Your pennies will help pay for free clinics, nursing service, preventive, tuberculin testing, X-rays, rehabilitation and other important work such as medical and social research.

Merry-Go-Round, Swings, Sand Box, Teeter Board, Screened In Play-House and, now, a Shuffle Board has been installed.

Radio Programs Are Controlled By Advertisers

That the radio public is denied what it wants under a system wholly supported by advertising is strikingly brought out in a study of one day's output of 206 commercial stations, including program contents and sales talk interruptions, which, under the title "American Broadcasting" was released today by the Ventura Free Press.

While various surveys have shown that adult listeners prefer (1) news and information; (2) classical music; (3) popular music and jazz; and (4) dramatic presentations, in the order named, it appears that through dictation of the advertiser their third choice actually fills two thirds of all program time. It is estimated that power, new tubes, repairs and replacements cost the 15,000,000 receiving set owners more than $300,000,000 a year. On the other hand, the maximum annual expenditure of the broadcasting stations and networks, including the operation of enormously expensive advertising sales departments, does not exceed $80,000,000. Since $50,000,000 amply covers the total outlay for production and transmission, the listeners spend six times that amount on reception and receive what the advertiser thinks will sell his goods.

The present survey, the first authentic and fairly comprehensive picture of American broadcasting and its typical pattern, shows what the owners of receiving-sets get for their money. It was made with the cooperation of 270 daily newspapers by The Ventura Free Press.

Christmas Seal Sale Opened Thanksgiving

"The sale of Christmas Seals to raise funds to carry on the work of preventing and controlling tuberculosis opens Thanksgiving Day and closes Christmas," announced Mrs. F. E. Chapman of Shelburne Falls, President of the Franklin County Public Health Association. Mrs. Chapman said "The goal of $5,000 for the county will enable us to carry on a program of health education in the schools, continue our health educational service to clubs and organizations, help us to broaden our service to individual patients, aid us to give further support to the Greenfield Health Camp, and increase our clinic service."

"This year for the first time every sheet of seals carries this message, 'Tuberculosis is preventable—Buy Christmas Seals—Tuberculosis is curable.' That this message is a beacon light to the sufferers and a challenge to every person engaged in preventing tuberculosis was evidenced," said she. "When a patient who had sufficiently recovered to engage in work for the past ten years approached us and said, 'How long since your organization has said

Don'ts For Hunters

The National Safety Council has the following "Don'ts" for hunters:

Don't carry an assembled gun in an automobile or wagon. As the vehicle jogs over bumpy roads the weapon may be discharged.

Don't shoot a gun, after putting it together, before looking through the barrel to see if it is clear.

Don't pull guns through fences, hold them in front of you as you climb through or over.

Don't set a loaded gun against a tree or leave it lying on the ground if there are dogs about. Dogs frequently discharge guns.

Don't lay a loaded gun in the bottom of a boat; picking it up sometimes causes it to go off and shoot out the bottom of the boat.

Don't shoot a gun after falling, climbing a bank, or walking over newly plowed ground until you have examined the barrel to find if it is clear.

Don't let the muzzle of the gun point too closely to water. If the gun is fired with the muzzle under water it will usually explode.

Don't shoot at a moving object until you are certain what it is.

Don't shoot at game until you have assured yourself that no other living creature is in the line of fire.

Strict adherence to these rules will not in any way minimize the sport of hunting and will go far toward preventing injuries and deaths.

"Bring me a plate of hash," said the diner.

The waiter walked over to the kitchen lift.

"Get wants to take a chance," he called down the speaking tube.

"I'll have some hash too," said another customer.

The waiter picked up the tube again.

"Another sport," he called out. —Answers

"TAKE A CHANCE"

The adventures for four side-show entertainers who try their luck on Broadway, is divertingly told in "Take a Chance," the Paramount musical film which comes to the Latchis Theatre tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

The quartette, composed of James Dunn, June Knight, Cliff Edwards and Lillian Roth find that the Great White Way isn't much different from Main Street after all and climb to the top of the ladder by means of a series of hilarious episodes which will keep the audience roaring.

It wouldn't be fair to tell you much more of the story. Suffice to say that the supporting cast, composed of Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lillian Bond, Lona Andre, Robert Gleckler and Charles Richmond, do justice to their roles, and that the locale of the story ranges from a small-town carnival to a ritzy gambling club, out with the socially elite of Long Island and back to Broadway.

But it's the music and the chorus which makes "Take a Chance" really outstanding.

At least five songs which will be sung from coast to coast within the next few weeks, are included in the new show. These tunes include: "I Never Took a Lesson in My Life," "New Deal Rhythm," "It's Only A Paper Moon," "Should I Be Sweet?" and a brand new version of "Eadie Was a Lady."

"Take a Chance" is a grand show. The first of a new series of pictures to be produced in New York it promises to rival that host of first class productions which have been made there in the past. By all means see it. —Adv.

On the slippery and darker roads of winter, you need the deep-treading, sure-holding grip of new Goodyear tires — and you need protection from tire changes in the cold.

Be wise — invest now in new Goodyear tires, ride safely, save money. This will be the 18th winter that more people rely on Goodyear tires than on any other tire. Let us show you why!
